DETAILED ACTION

1. This Office action is in response to Applicant's amendment filed October 24, 2005.

Claims 23, 29, and 35 have been amended. Claims 24 and 30 have been canceled.

2. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. Claims 23, 25, 26, 28-29, 33-35, and 37 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Amin et al. (US Patent No. 6,353,398).

Claim 23

Amin et al. discloses a system, thus, a method comprising:

- a. Identifying a reference location;
- b. Receiving one or more criteria specified by a user from the portable communication device at substantially the same time of identifying the reference location (col. 4, lines 29-50); and
- c. Sending consumer information to a portable communication device wherein the consumer information is selected based at least in part on a vendor's proximity to the reference location and the criteria specified by the user from the portable communication device.

Art Unit: 2636

See abstract and summary of invention. Also col. 2, last paragraph and col. 4, lines 29-50.

Claim 25:

In Amin's, one or more criteria specified by a user pertains to at least one of a price, distance or quality for vendor goods or services. Col. 4, lines 29-50.

Claim 26:

In Amin, the consumer information is set in response to request by a user. See col. 6, lines 57-62.

Claim 28:

The method of identifying the reference location in Amin comprises receiving GPS coordinates from the user's portable device. Col. 3, lines 34-46.

Claim 29:

Amin teaches a method comprising:

- a. Transmitting information from wireless communication device, the information including location information and user specified criterion pertaining to at least one of a price or a quality for a vendor goods or services (col. 4, lines 29-50); and
- b. Receiving consumer information at the wireless communication device, the consumer information relating to one or more vendor goods or services which satisfy the user specified criterion and proximate to a location associated with the location information.

Claim 33:

The user specified criterion is entered into the wireless communication device by the user.

Art Unit: 2636

Claim 34:

The user specified criterion includes at least one of a price range for an amount or fuel or minimum distance to travel. Col. 4, lines 29-50.

Claim 35:

Amin discloses a wireless communication device comprising:

- a. A processor (inherent); and
- b. A memory coupled to the processor, the memory storing instructions that when executed by the processor enable the wireless communication device to transmit information including location information and specified criterion to another device and receive consumer information at the wireless communication device, wherein the received consumer information relates to one or more vendor goods or services which satisfy the user specified criterion and are proximate to a location associated with the location information.

See abstract and summary of invention. Also col. 2, last paragraph and col. 4, lines 29-50.

Claim 37:

The wireless communication device in Amin has a display to display indicia representing the consumer information received at the wireless communication device.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. Claims 27 and 31 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Amin et al. (US Patent No. 6,353,398) in view of Titmuss et al. (US Patent No. 6,397,040).

Claim 27:

Art Unit: 2636

Amin fails to disclose the reference location is received by location input into the portable device by the user. However, Titmuss suggest detecting the user's location by using a location updater which updates the user location based on the user input to a terminal. In light of this teaching, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to incorporate this feature in the Amin system because it would provide up to date information as desired.

Claim 31:

Amin fails to disclose that the consumer includes a name of the vendor. Nonetheless, this idea is well known as taught in Titmuss, col. 8, ll. 25-37. In view of Titmuss, a skilled artisan would have readily recognized applying this concept in the Amin system because it would be informative to the user.

5. Claim 32 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Amin et al. (US Patent No. 6,353,398)

Claim 32:

Though not clearly stated in Amin that the user specified criterion is stored in non-volatile memory, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to store this information in non-volatile memory since it is a new user's preference and should be saved as desired.

Remarks

6. Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
